Glasgow based Cascade Technologies Ltd won the 2004 Technology Start Up award. Cascade Technologies were incorporated in January 2003 and are designing and manufacturing platform products and developing their applications for chemical "sniffing". Their gas detection instrument is unlike any other and will provide an unprecedented level of performance in terms of speed of measurement and ultra high sensitivity for target gases (their instrument is 5,000 times more sensitive than the dog). Markets for Cascade Technologies' platform include security, military, oil and gas, aerospace, medical diagnostics and laboratory instrumentation to name but a few.
